Anthropology of Europe

Elena Popa, TTH 3:30 pm-4:45 pm

HONOR 340-007

What is Europe? What are its cultural, political, and physical boundaries? How can we conceptualize Europe? In this class, we explore Europe, as a modern concept, understood in relation to transformative events that occurred during the 20th century, such as the two World Wars, the dismantling of the Soviet Union, the creation and expansion of the European Union, and the more recent migrant/refugee “crises.” Rather than adopting a country-by-country approach, we will draw on theoretical and ethnographic studies to reshape our perceptions of Europe
